FARM SIDES

FANNIE #1

EXT. SCHRUTE FARMS

Dwight, Fannie and Jeb are giving their guests, the Haskins, a tour. They come across a well on the way to the barn.

DWIGHT

And this, of course is the nexus of our oasis, the primal source.

MR. HASKIN

What?

(FANNIE)

It's our well.

DWIGHT

Gosh, the times we had here, growing up, getting water. My gosh.

(FANNIE)

("what are you talking about")

Also drinking the water, don't forget about that.

DWIGHT

You know, I can't say if this really happened, but a young girl's first kiss might have taken place leaning against the stone edge here, taking shade under this two hundred year old trellis. Yeah, young love, the open plains, a breeze flavored with sunflowers. You can't find that in the city.

Fannie gets what he is doing.

(FANNIE)

You know, that does sound idyllic.

DWIGHT

Mmm hmmm.

(FANNIE)

But I kinda remember my first kiss was in Boston.

DWIGHT

Unlikely.

(FANNIE)

Yeah, the sunflowers brought back the memory -- from this wonderful flower shop.

DWIGHT

Nature is my flower shop.

(FANNIE)

A breeze came in off the Charles River.

DWIGHT

Too cold, brrr.

(FANNIE)

It was a hot day.

DWIGHT

Sticky city heat.

(FANNIE)

A boy leaned in and kissed me lightly, and I thought, "This subway conductor is such a good kisser."

(delighted)

Don't wonderful things happen in the city!

DWIGHT

Heh. No.

(FANNIE)

Wasn't your first kiss with Jeb?

DWIGHT

That's crazy.

(FANNIE)

(to Jeb)

At the loft in the barn?

JEB

(remembering)

Oh yeah...

The Haskins look horrified. Dwight can't believe this, and Fannie smiles.

FANNIE TALKING HEAD

(FANNIE)

I begged them to let me do plays with them. But no. "The Theater isn't for women." So I had to sit through Dwight as Romeo and Jeb as Juliet. I swore I'd get back at them. Ah, revenge is a dish best served cold.

BACK TO SCENE

DWIGHT

Don't. It's not-

(FANNIE)

Good memories.

DWIGHT

Okay, but-

(FANNIE)

Makes me want us all to live here again.

DWIGHT

Ah, that's good.

(FANNIE)

So you two can pick up where you left off.

DWIGHT

This is a dark joke. What the city has done to your sense of humor!

(to Haskins)

Okay, let's take a tour of the barn, shall we?

(FANNIE)

Where you two went to second base!

DWIGHT

Playing indoor baseball!

The Haskins begin to walk off with Jeb.

(FANNIE)

(quietly to Dwight)

I'm not moving back here.

DWIGHT
(quietly to Fannie)
Yes you are.

She smiles as they walk off.
